	unchanged on the final finishing positions in the A and B finals. In the case of any ties with drivers setting identical fastest lap times in timed qualification, the driver setting the quickest 2 nd fastest lap will take the higher grid position, if second fastest lap times are identical then 3 rd fastest lap is considered and so forth. The timed practice results will decide the grid positions for the Pre Final, each drivers quickest lap to count. The quickest lap takes pole position, in the case of a tie the second quickest lap to resolve the tie and then the third lap etc.
	Where entry numbers require a class to be split over 2 qualification sessions (more than 36 entries) the fastest time in the fastest group will take the higher ranking in the Qualification Classification. The fastest time in the slower session will take 2 nd place in the Qualification Classification. The second fastest time in the faster group will take 3 rd place in the Qualification Classification Class and so on.
	If Timed Qualifying times are identical then higher position will be decided on 2nd fastest time of each driver, if still tied 3rd fastest time etc
	Where classes exceed 36 entries, the drivers will be split by computer ballot into two separate timed qualifying sessions.
	Following both qualifying sessions, drivers will be ranked into two groups (group A and group B) with all drivers from group A competing in Pre Final A and drivers in group B competing in Pre Final B. the top 16 drivers from each Pre Final will progress directly to the A Final with the remainder qualifying for the B Final, priority for grid positions will be decided Points scored in the 2 heats will determine grid positions for the final(s), with the lowest score on pole. In the event of a tie the higher grid position will be decided from the classification of timed qualifying. Where entry numbers require a class to be split over 2 qualification sessions (more than 36 entries) the fastest time in the fastest group will take the higher ranking in the Qualification Classification. The fastest time in the slower session will take 2 nd place in the Qualification Classification. The second fastest time in the slower group will take 4 th place in the Qualification Classification and so on.
